

Membership Benefits

Conference

A three-day annual conference is held in the autumn in a different venue in the UK. It addresses a particular theme of topical interest and attracts an excellent range of speakers working in all sectors of archaeology.

Reduced rates are available for members.

Recent conferences include:

Collections: used, abused or destroyed? -
Collections management in museums
Leeds 2008

Seminars

Occasional day seminars are held to discuss current issues affecting the profession. Often held jointly with other organisations, such as the Archaeological Archives Forum.

Training

A programme of practical sessions and workshops are organised. They are usually led by members of the society in their own museums. Reduced rates are available for members. Participation benefits your Continued Professional Development (CPD).

Journal

'The Museum Archaeologist' is an annual publication of proceedings from the conference and is sent free of charge to members.

Back copies of the journal are also available at a reduced rate to members.

Newsletter

The society publishes a newsletter twice a year containing news, reviews, details of forthcoming events and short articles.

All members are welcome to submit items for publication, please contact the Newsletter Editor.

Annual subscriptions

Subscriptions are taken on April 1st every year.

Purpose and Aims

The Society of Museum Archaeologists exists to:

- Promote museum involvement in all aspects of archaeology and emphasise the unique contribution of museums to the essential unity of the archaeological profession.
- Promote greater public understanding of the archaeological past and a fuller public appreciation of the importance of archaeology.
- Campaign for the acceptance of museums as guardians of a vital part of the nation's heritage and as the appropriate location for the storage and interpretation of all archaeological material.
- Develop a coherent philosophy for the role of archaeologists in museums.

It aims to achieve this by:

- Acting as a pressure group within the museum profession and offering advice to the Museums Association and other national bodies on current issues of archaeological importance
- Encouraging closer relations with colleagues outside museums and with other organisations involved in archaeology.
- Working towards the improvement of all aspects of archaeological work in museums.
